McFARLAND DELEGATE.

Prof. Raymond McFarland of Middlebury College was elected a delegate at large to the National Progressive convention by the gathering of Vermont progressives in Burlington Wednesday. The convention adopted a resolution in which they testified their allegiance to the principles of the Progressive party, their confidence in Theodore Roosevelt, and their willingness "to co-operate with any party which will honestly and patriotically endeavor to make these principles effective in the development of American ideals."

Prof. McFarland made an address at the convention, in which he said that the progressives did not hitch their cart to a single man but to a group of principles and that the members of the Party will stand by until they see these principles carried out. Such occurrences as the loss of American citizens' lives on the Lusitania cannot be settled by gold or by notes written on linen paper. There is now a great need to uphold American honor and the one man who can thoroughly accomplish that purpose is Theodore Roosevelt.

BAND CONCERT.

The first band concert of the season will be given by the Middlebury band in the Addison house park on Wednesday evening, May 31, weather permitting. The following is the program:

March, "Semper Fidelis," Sousa Overture, "The Feast of Lanterns," Bennett Baritone Solo, "The Old Home Down on the Farm," Harlow By Howard Hasseltine Waltz, "Garden of Roses," Brooks Novelty, "Four Little Blackberries," O'Connor Selection, "Woodland," Luders March, "L. B. B." Hall

UNIQUE WINDOW DISPLAY.

Through the courtesy of Leonard Zeeman, who returned on April 12 from his native home in Holland, there are displayed in the show window of the F. A. Evans shoe store on Main street three pairs of wooden shoes such as are worn in that country. Two pairs of these are for adults and one for a child, the latter handsomely carved. The shoes are attracting much attention.

116TH COMMENCEMENT.

Middlebury College Plans for Great Gathering June 18-21.

Preparations for Commencement are well under way, and some unusually interesting features are planned. The opening of the new Mead Memorial chapel, and also of the Hepburn Dormitory and Commons, will be occasions of interest, and in addition the college authorities have provided some unique events for the program.

Chief among these will be the centennial of the birth of John G. Saxe, the greatest poet in the list of Middlebury graduates. Mr. Saxe was born June 2, 1816, and graduated in the class of 1838. His grandson, Hon. John G. Saxe, of New York city, will be the guest of the corporation at Commencement, and will deliver an address on the life and work of the poet at the dinner Wednesday. Mr. Saxe is an eminent lawyer, and has been prominent in political affairs in the State of New York.

Another distinguished guest will be Mr. Howard Elliott, President of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. Mr. Elliott will also speak at the Commencement dinner.

The graduating exercises will be held as usual in the Congregational church, and the Mead chapel will be opened with public exercises Sunday afternoon. An address will be made by Rev. Charles R. Brown, D. D., Dean of the Divinity School of Yale University, one of the most eloquent preachers in the country. Bishop Hall and other clergymen will have part in the exercises. A student choir, under the leadership of Mrs. S. S. Eddy, have been rehearsing for several weeks on the musical program.

An opportunity for all to hear the new organ, which is expected to be an especially fine instrument, will be afforded at an organ recital Saturday evening. The Estey Organ Company are to send an organist from Boston for the occasion, and he will be assisted by a soloist. Mr. Ernest A. Meneely, of the company which installed the chime of bells, will also give several recitals during Commencement week.

With two Shakespearian dramas by the Ben Greet players on Tuesday, a ball game at which the Middlebury team expects to win back its laurels from the University of Vermont, and many other features of interest, the 116th Commencement is likely to bring back the largest number of alumni which Middlebury has ever seen.
